Class Information

Next week brings a shortened week for the kids. We will not be in school on Monday due to a teacher in service. The book fair will be at Oil Hill next week as well and Family Night is Thursday, September 27th.

Homework this week: Reading – Monday, Spelling Words – sent home on Wed.- due Friday September 27 – Book Fair Family Night October 4th – Ag Day Field Trip

Our Learning

In My Very Own Room, a young girl is sharing a room with five brothers. What she wants more than anything is to have her own room. Because of the title, we think the girl will get her room in the end. The students keep making predictions as we read. They are good guesses about what will happen next, and they're based on clues the author has given. Making predictions is fun—it's like solving little mysteries. The predictions also keep us involved in the story!

This Week's Skills

Comprehension: make and confirm predictions

Vocabulary: suffixes -er and -est

Spelling/Phonics: the sound of long i spelled i, ie, y, and igh
